Global Equities - Period in Review

Global equities had a strong start to the year with the MSCI World (USD) Index returning 9.15% in the first half of 2025 driven by a broader range of sectors including Financials, Information Technology and Industrials. Softer price pressures helped with core CPI rising at a moderate pace year-on-year in May, reflecting easing inflation trends. The Federal Reserve maintained its policy rate opting not to cut as inflation remained above its long-term target but showed no signs of re-acceleration.

The European Central Bank moved first cutting all key rates by 25 bps on 5 June responding to subdued inflation and a fragile economic recovery. The euro-area composite PMI edged slightly above the growth threshold indicating tentative signs of renewed expansion in the region.

Global Equities - Market Outlook

The outlook for global equities remains positive supported by continued innovation in artificial intelligence driving corporate earnings growth and a more pro-growth policy stance in Europe that is beginning to boost economic activity and investor confidence. While markets have shown resilience and reached new highs investors should expect ongoing volatility driven by policy shifts and geopolitical uncertainties. Opportunities are emerging across regions with the US benefiting from strong earnings momentum and Europe gaining traction from stimulus measures and rate cuts.

European Equities – Period in Review

European equities delivered strong performance in the first half of 2025 with the MSCI Europe (EUR) Index returning 8.55% as investors rotated into the region amid attractive valuations, resilient earnings, and a more stable political environment.

Major European indices posted strong gains, with sectors such as financials, utilities, and select cyclicals leading the advance. European bank shares rallied on robust corporate results.

The European Central Bank reduced its key interest rates by 25 basis points in June aiming to support the eurozone as inflation settled near target and growth remained subdued. This monetary easing combined with a resilient labour market and improving real incomes has helped create a more favourable environment for households and businesses. At the same time the euro-area composite PMI moved just above the threshold that separates contraction from expansion pointing to early but cautious signs of economic improvement across the region.

European Equities - Market Outlook

The outlook for European equities remains cautiously optimistic. The region is expected to benefit from continued monetary support following the ECB's rate cuts which should help sustain economic recovery amid still-subdued inflation. Improving labour market conditions and rising real incomes are likely to bolster consumer spending while corporate earnings are anticipated to gain momentum as growth gradually broadens. However, challenges such as geopolitical uncertainties and uneven recovery across member states may contribute to ongoing market volatility. Overall, selective opportunities exist particularly in sectors poised to capitalise on the pro-growth policy environment and structural reforms.

Emerging Markets - Period in Review

Over the past six months, markets have weathered a string of US-centric shocks— from trade war chaos to debt-ceiling brinkmanship. More recently, Federal Reserve caution and last-minute fiscal deals have eased the threat of outright panic. But the damage is done: foreign-exchange traders have attached fresh risk premia on the dollar, triggering one of its sharpest deratings since the 1970s.

At the start of the year, volatility in emerging markets was driven by a rally in Chinese mega caps on Deepseek. Expectations that AI capex will be likely downgraded with negative implications on the AI Enablers & Infrastructure (Semis, mainly Taiwan) vs AI beneficiaries (China consumer internet and software). Concerns regarding potential trade wars added further investor anxiety with weakness towards the latter end of the quarter driven by a rotation to defensives and EM ex Asia. Our positioning remained 'pro-Growth' on expectation that tariff risk was overstated with a likely climbdown in draconian policies.

Global stocks sank 10-15% after President Trump announced higher-than-expected reciprocal tariffs on most trade partners on April 2nd. Markets rebounded quickly with signs of de-escalation of the tariff war and surged higher than the April 2nd levels following the US-China trade truce in May and June. We saw further rallies after the Iran-Israel ceasefire in late June. USD depreciated in 2Q25 - down 6.7% - to the lowest level since March 2022. Emerging Markets (12.2%) outperformed the US (+10.6%) despite both asset classes performing strongly in absolute terms. Within Emerging Markets, South Korea (+32.6%), Taiwan (+26.4%) and Mexico (+20.8%) led, whilst Saudi Arabia (-5.0%), China (+2.6%) and Turkey (+3.1%) lagged.

At the halfway stage of 2025, Emerging Markets have performed strongly with outperformance versus the U.S. market stretching to 9 percentage points. This represents the widest relative outperformance seen in eight years. It's clear that global allocators are beginning to take note with the reappraisal of Emerging Markets' investment case now moving to the top of many priority lists.

Emerging Markets - Market Outlook

With the "insanity premium*" on dollar assets beginning to recede, any further slide may slow—and even allow a short-term rebound. Yet medium-term headwinds remain. A still richly valued US dollar, paired with domestic policy uncertainty, is unlikely to reclaim its former dominance.

That shift matters. Investors no longer assume the dollar's strength as a given. The old mantra "strong unless proven weak" has been replaced by its inverse. This reversal reflects growing doubts about American exceptionalism. Political brinkmanship, eroding institutional trust and waning diplomatic clout have all diminished confidence in US growth and returns.

For emerging markets, this backdrop is compelling. A softer dollar lowers the cost of servicing dollar-denominated debt, eases refinancing risks and boosts corporate margins. Local currencies, undervalued after years of dollar strength, have room to recover, enhancing total returns. Meanwhile, central banks in many EM economies retain more policy flexibility than their advanced-economy counterparts, allowing them to support growth without stoking runaway inflation.

Finally, diversification into EM offers a hedge against US-specific risks. With global capital markets increasingly intertwined, reducing concentration in US assets can improve portfolio resilience. For investors seeking both income and growth, the combination of cheaper funding costs, attractive valuations and brighter growth prospects makes emerging markets hard to ignore.

Fixed Income - Period in Review

The first half of 2025 saw broadly stable spread levels overall, despite extreme volatility. Global IG spreads closed the month of June within touching distance of all-time tights and only few basis points from their year-end level, despite a round trip that took them about 40bps wider (~50% of current level) during the outbreak of trade tensions in March / April before tightening back. The trend was similar across HY and EM spreads.

Differentiation was mainly regional during H1, with Europe outperforming the US. The first six months of the new Trump administration started to shake investors' confidence in the outlook for the US economy whilst the concerted push for defence and infrastructure spending across Europe conversely reinvigorated growth expectations. As a result, rates followed diverging path, and US Treasury curve moved lower in the front-end (5y down nearly 60bps) whilst the German curve moved higher and steeper (30y Bund 50bps higher).

Market Outlook - Fixed Income

With global credit spreads back to historically tight levels (Global IG nearly 1.5 standard deviation expensive versus 10y average), we revert to an underweight credit risk position versus our custom benchmark.

Although the US economy has demonstrated resilience over the first half, signs of slowdown are emerging (softer confidence readings, cooling retail sales, a gentle uptick in default rates) whilst global uncertainty remains elevated. More specifically, global trade tensions have failed to ease despite a three-month negotiation break and military conflicts in Ukraine and the Middle East show no sign of long-term resolution.

In this context, we like to move up in credit quality and see opportunities to capture the wider spread in steeper Euro curves versus dollar. We see investment grade bonds as an attractive risk-reward proposition, providing steady income and benefitting from the likelihood of rate cuts should the global economy meaningfully deteriorate.

Global Equities – SWF Commentary

The Fund underperformed its benchmark by 2.73%. Mercado Libre and Microsoft were the top two contributors while Apollo Global Management and JB Hunt were the primary detractors.

From a sector allocation perspective, the Fund's overweight in Industrials and underweight in Consumer Discretionary contributed to performance whilst the Fund's underweight in Financials and overweight in healthcare, detracted over the period.

Within stock selection, Mercado Libre benefited from continued strong earnings driven by share gains throughout Latin America with particularly impressive performance in Brazil and a recovery in Argentina, whilst Microsoft benefited from strong demand for their AI-driven solutions.

Tariff concerns and macroeconomic conditions had an impact on Apollo Global Management's exit opportunities and JB Hunt's end-market demand.

Fixed Income – SWCBF Commentary

During the first half of 2025, the Fund returned 4.18% net of fees, outperforming its custom benchmark by 0.21%. The Fund ranks in the top quartile of its Morningstar category. Banking (10y Euro-denominated BNP and National Bank of Greece) and Materials (Orbia, Ball in USD) were the top sector performers, whilst Real Estate (Aldar, Equinix) marginally underperformed. Our Underweight in the Oil & Gas sector and strong security selection across rating buckets also broadly contributed to the outperformance in H1.

A deliberately low-beta positioning going into February paid off when trade-tariff headlines drove spreads wider, allowing the fund to stay ahead of its benchmark through April. As risk appetite returned, we moved the beta back to neutral —picking up assets selectively at higher spreads— and performance held firm through the May–June rally despite a rapid spread tightening backdrop.

Emerging Markets - EMAE Commentary

The fund underperformed the MSCI Emerging Markets Index by 3.75% over the Reporting Period. The weak performance was predominantly driven by stock selection vs. asset allocation. In particular, negative attribution was generated in India, China and Taiwan. From a sector point of view, negative attribution was driven by stock selection in Information Technology, Consumer Discretionary and Communication Services.

Deteriorating sentiment and uninspiring economic conditions in China saw the market contribute 4.92% of our relative negative attribution, driven mainly by our position in Yum China and Hundsun Technologies. India contributed 4.02% of our relative negative attribution, shaped by our stock selection in Polycab India and Cyient Ltd. With Taiwan one of the best performing markets in the period, the lack of exposure to mega caps like TSMC contributed negatively to fund performance. Meanwhile, stock selection in Vietnam via FPT and Korea contributed positively to attribution.

We remain optimistic about the positioning of the fund. Our investment process remains committed to its tested two-pillar process which, firstly identifies undervalued business through its fundamentally driven bottom-up approach, and secondly seeks to generate additional alpha by partnering with all portfolio companies on material Sustainability and operational improvements.

European Equities – EFF commentary

The Fund underperformed its benchmark by 10.54%. Lindt and Lifco were the top two contributors while Novo Nordisk and LVMH were the primary detractors. The Fund's emphasis on quality growth stocks weighed on relative performance in the first half of the year as Europe's more optimistic market mood led investors to rotate into cyclical sectors that tend to benefit from economic upswings.

From a sector allocation perspective, the Fund's underweight in healthcare and overweight in Industrials contributed to performance whilst the Fund's overweight in Consumer Discretionary and underweight in Financials detracted over the period.

Lindt benefited from robust sales growth and effective price increases despite cost pressures as Lifco delivered better-than-expected results and upward revisions to estimates. In contrast Novo Nordisk and LVMH faced headwinds from sector-specific challenges and weaker investor sentiment during the period.

The authorised share capital of the ICAV 500,000,000,000 participating Shares of no par value. Non-participating Shares do not entitle the holders thereof to any dividend and on a winding up entitle the holders thereof to receive the consideration paid therefor but do not otherwise entitle them to participate in the assets of the ICAV. The Directors have the power to allot shares in the capital of the ICAV on such terms and in such manner as they may think fit.

The dealing day for each share class for all three Sub-Funds is each Business Day or such other days as the Directors may determine and notify to Shareholders in advance provided that there shall be at least two Dealing Days per month. All Classes of Shares shall be issued at the Net Asset Value per Share calculated at the Valuation Point being 10:00pm (Irish time) on each Dealing Day, or such other time or Business Day as the Directors may determine and notify in advance to Shareholders, provided that there shall always be a Valuation Point for every Dealing Day.

CONDENSED INTERIM REPORT AND UNAUDITED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

For the financial period from 1 January 2025 to 30 June 2025

The Sub-Funds may suffer a reduction in value, known as “dilution” when trading the underlying investments as a result of net inflows or net outflows of the respective Sub-Funds. This is due to transaction charges and other costs that may be incurred by liquidating and purchasing the underlying assets and the spreads between the buying and selling prices. In order to counter this effect and to protect Shareholders’ interests, the Manager may adopt a swing pricing mechanism as part of its valuation policy.

The Investment Manager has implemented the swing price mechanism by setting a monthly threshold, which determines whether to swing the price based on the net subscriptions and redemptions. This threshold is updated monthly by the Investment Manager. If the threshold is reached, the NAV price will then be adjusted by a factor, also set by the Investment Manager to ensure the transaction fees arising from subscriptions and redemptions is borne by the incoming/outcoming investors. For the calculation of appropriate threshold and factors, the Investment Manager has engaged Deloitte to assist in sourcing of the required relevant market data and the resulting calculations.

7. Tax

Under current law and practice, the ICAV qualifies as an investment undertaking as defined in Section 739B of the Taxes Consolidation Act, 1997, as amended. On that basis it is not chargeable to Irish tax on its income or capital gains.

However, Irish tax may arise on the happening of a "chargeable event" in the ICAV. A chargeable event includes any distribution payments to shareholders or any encashment, redemption, cancellation or transfer of shares, and the holding of shares at the end of each eight-year period beginning with the acquisition of the shares.

No Irish Tax will arise on the ICAV in respect of chargeable events in respect of:

- A shareholder who is neither Irish resident nor ordinarily resident in Ireland for tax purposes, at the time of the chargeable event, provided that appropriate valid declarations in accordance with the provisions of the Taxes Consolidation Act, 1997, as amended, are held by the ICAV.
- Certain exempted Irish resident shareholders who have provided the ICAV with the necessary signed statutory declarations.

Dividends and capital gains (if any) received on investments made by the ICAV may be subject to withholding taxes imposed by the country from which the investment income or capital gains are received, and such taxes may not be recoverable by the ICAV.

8. Financial Risk Management

The Investment Manager use the same risk management techniques and continuous risk monitoring as set out in ICAV’s audited financial statements for the year ended 31 December 2024. These condensed financial statements should be read in tandem with the audited financial statements.

9. Fair Value Hierarchy

IFRS 13- Fair Value Measurement, establishes a three-tier fair value hierarchy that prioritises the inputs to valuation techniques to measure fair value. The hierarchy gives the highest priority to unadjusted quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities (Level 1 measurement) and lowest priority to unobservable inputs (Level 3 measurement). Investments measured and reported at fair value are classified and disclosed in one of the following fair value hierarchy levels based on the significance of the inputs used in measuring their fair value:

CONDENSED INTERIM REPORT AND UNAUDITED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

Level 1- Unadjusted quoted prices in active markets that are accessible at the measurement date for identical, unrestricted assets or liabilities;

Level 2- Quoted prices in markets that are not active or financial instruments for which all significant inputs are observable, either directly or indirectly. Fair value is determined through the use of models or other valuation methodologies;

Level 3- Prices or valuations that require inputs that are both significant to the fair value measurement and are unobservable. Unobservable inputs are developed based on the best information available in the circumstances and reflect the Sub-Funds' own assumptions about how market participants would be expected to value the asset or liability.

An investment is always categorised as Level 1, 2 or 3 in its entirety. In certain cases, the fair value measurement for an investment may use a number of different inputs that fall into different levels of the fair value hierarchy. In such cases, an investment's level within the fair value hierarchy is based on the lowest level of input that is significant to the fair value measurement. There was no transfer between levels during the financial period.

Supplementary Information

Set-up costs

For the Sub-Funds in accordance with IFRS, all authorisation expenses must be debited to the Statement of Comprehensive Income in the first year of operations, resulting in a difference between the published Net Asset Value of the Funds' share classes, which amortise the fees over a period of three years from the launch date of the relevant Fund, and the Net Asset Value in these financial statements. This difference will be reduced each financial year for three years until the authorisation expenses are fully amortised in the published Net Asset Value.
